The Bee's Knees

Interior designer Stefani Stein says her furniture and wallpaper line, August Abode, is a "moving portrait of California life." The print is a contemporary take on a classic floral motif, with peonies set against a vibrant yellow backdrop. augustabode.com

Teatime

Enjoy the perfect sip with this delicate blend of black tea and bright floral flavors—and the tea-bags are biodegradable! $18; artoftea.com

Shake it Up

I'm pretty sure cocktails just taste better when they're made in a chic shaker. I love the sophisticated shape of this one by Arhaus. $59; arhaus.com

Editor's Picks

One of the perks of being an editor? I get to discover the latest and greatest in beauty, fashion, and design. Consider this my A-list.

BY KELLI LAMB

Salvaged Beauty

Aloka takes quilts that are often 60 to 80 years old and lovingly restores and refreshes them. The hand-stitched beauties are super soft and one-of-a-kind. $350; alokahome.com

Cute + Cozy
Sixpenny's new spring collection features playful, plush seating. The Olea sectional has adorable back cushions and a neatly fixed slipcover that shows off the solid oak base. Sectional pricing starting at $3,849; sixpenny.com

Moment of Zen

Years ago, I learned a meditation trick that's always stuck with me. Wearing a bracelet like this, take a deep breath as you hold the gold bead. Slowly move around the bracelet, one breath per stone, until you're back where you started. Though you may not find enlightenment on your first try, you'll definitely feel a sense of calm. $95; civettala.com

↑ Clean Sweep
Sculptor Erin Rouse makes handmade brooms in Brooklyn using traditional methods and natural dyes. The Gallo hand broom is the perfect size to dust coffee grinds off the counter or tidy outdoor cushions before taking a seat. $88; civilianobjects.com

↓ Double Trouble
The double-handled mug by EARL has long been on my wish list—it's an art piece! Psst...the husband-wife team behind the Los Angeles studio does more than ceramics. See their design work on page 40! $42 for one; earl-home.com

↑ That's a Wrap
Cuyana's recycled cashmere is incredible. Made in Italy at a 130-year-old family-owned mill, new fabric created from textile scraps only softens with each wear. $298; cuyana.com

↑ Pick Me Up
An espresso martini is the new Aperol Spritz...meaning the most popular cocktail on the menu. They're pretty easy to make at home, especially with Hanson's organic vodka in the mix. It's infused with organic Hawaiian coffee for a smooth, rich flavor. $40; hansonofsonoma.com

↓ Hot Seat
Martin & Brockett is a showroom and design studio located in Los Angeles, known for heirloom-quality pieces with playful, pared-down details. The Sydney Bench is crafted from oak and has cute finial details. If you're in L.A., it's worth a visit to see the pieces in person! $3,705; martinandbrockett.com

↓ Magic Potion
The only way to describe Farmacy's Green Clean makeup-removing balm is, well, magic. It literally melts makeup from your face—I was shocked the first time I used it—but doesn't strip your skin of moisture. A must-have in every beauty cabinet! $34; farmacybeauty.com

Dish Duty
Another product that really wowed me the first time I used it is the Fisher & Paykel DishDrawer system. Imagine your regular dishwasher split into two drawers, allowing for a beautiful integrated design and half loads—meaning less energy and water waste. fisherpaykel.com/us

A Slice of Heaven

Located in Tecate, Mexico, Rancho La Puerta is the original destination wellness resort and spa and one of my favorite places for a "reset." With vegetarian cuisine, early morning hikes and exercise classes, and a world-class spa, it's the perfect antidote to my busy (less-than-healthy) lifestyle at home. Now, they're expanding with The Residences: a private, wellness-focused village of residences thoughtfully placed on The Ranch's 4,000-acre grounds, allowing guests to own their own piece of paradise. residences.rancho-la-puerta.com

Noir

Les Bois Lifestyle is a women-owned, ethically-sourced, sustainably-packaged candle line handcrafted in Boise, ID—my hometown! Musky vetiver and palo santo blends with bright floral notes for an alluring, romantic aroma. $50; idahocandle.com

Style Made Simple

Black-owned jewelry line Joee (pronounced jewel) has luxury appeal at an affordable price. Their pieces add that extra something-something to every outfit. $85; jooe1.com

Let There Be Light!

Founded in 2017 by Nick Ozemba and Felicia Hung, Brooklyn-based brand In Common With makes the coolest light fixtures. This one's crafted from black clay and made by hand, one at a time. $625; incommonwith.com

Fuss Free

After featuring Bobbi Brown in our last issue, I've become a devoted follower of her new clean-makeup line, Jones Road. The Face Pencil covers redness and dark spots in a flash and couldn't be easier to apply. $25, jonesroadbeauty.com

Wardrobe Staples

MIRTH is known for their effortlessly chic caftans, but I'm a new fan of their tops and jackets. They make the perfect, lightweight pieces to pair with your favorite blue jeans and loafers—aka my spring uniform! $220, mirthcaftans.com

Get It Together

Lulu and Georgia has partnered with SortJoy on a line of organizational items. The felt bins and trays are eco-friendly, timeless, and durable. $35; luluandgeorgia.com

Timeless Sophistication

Celebrated interior designer and entrepreneur Bria Hammel has partnered with Rue-favorite etúHOME on a collection of kitchen accessories. This handcrafted ceramic pitcher is great for lemonade, but I'd love to fill it with a bouquet of fresh cut lavender. $223; etuhome.com

Party On!

Dometic's MoBar 50 is the ideal solution for indoor or outdoor entertaining. The mobile, insulated bar cart is bartender approved and can keep 22 bottles or 32 cans ice-cold. $1,099; dometic.com

Cool Club

Soho Home Studio—the brand inspired by the iconic member's-only social club—has just opened in NYC's Meatpacking District. The stylish shopping destination showcases their newest collections in a swoon-worthy space. Bonus: You don't have to be a member of Soho House to visit. sohome.com

Epitome of Elegance

AERIN's new decorative accessories collection is exactly what you'd expect from Aerin Lauder: understated luxury, with a twist. I'm imagining a gorgeous dinner party aglow with these golden candleholders. $250; aerin.com

Feeling Flush

Another easy-to-use beauty product that's so impressive, it feels almost like a hack: Merit's Flush Balm. Swipe directly on your cheeks, blend with your fingertips, and voila! The creamy tint gives your cheeks the perfect touch of color. $28; meritbeauty.com

Mention It All

Gone are the days of calling our undergarments "unmentionables." It would be a disservice if I didn't mention how wonderful Knickey is! The organic cotton underwear line is soft yet supportive. My hunt for the perfect bra has finally ended! $48; knickey.com
